Hear Us Out Richard Canning, 2004-01-13 The author of the acclaimed Gay Fiction Speaks brings us new interviews with twelve prominent gay writers who have emerged in the last decade Hear Us Out demonstrates how in recent decades the canon of gay fiction has developed diversified and expanded its audience into the mainstream Readers will recognize names like Michael Cunningham whose Pulitzer Prize winning novel The Hours inspired the hit movie and others like Christopher Bram Bernard Cooper Stephen McCauley and Matthew Stadler These accounts explore the vicissitudes of writing on gay male themes in fiction over the last thirty years prejudices of the literary marketplace social and political questions the impact of AIDS commonalities between gay male and lesbian fiction and even some delectable bits of gossip

The Heather Blazing Colm Tóibín, 1992 Eamon Redmond is a judge in Ireland's high court a completely legal creature who is just beginning to discover how painfully unconnected he is from other human beings With effortless fluency Colm Toibin reconstructs the history of Eamon's relationships with his father his first girl his wife and the children who barely know him and he writes about Eamon's affection for the Irish coast with such painterly skill that the land itself becomes a character. The result is a novel of stunning power, seductive and absorbing. USA Today Middle Passage Charles Johnson, 2012-02-21. A twenty-fifth anniversary edition of Charles Johnson's National Book Award winning masterpiece, a novel in the tradition of Billy Budd and Moby Dick, heroic in proportion, fiction that hooks the mind. The New York Times Book Review now with a new introduction from Stanley Crouch. Rutherford Calhoun, a newly freed slave and irrepressible rogue, is lost in the underworld of 1830s New Orleans. Desperate to escape the city's unscrupulous bill collectors and the pawing hands of a schoolteacher hellbent on marrying him, he jumps aboard the Republic, a slave ship en route to collect members of a legendary African tribe, the Allmuseri. Thus begins a voyage of metaphysical horror and human atrocity, a journey which challenges our notions of freedom, fate, and how we live together. Peopled with vivid and unforgettable characters, nimble in its interplay of comedy and serious ideas, this dazzling modern classic is a perfect blend of the picaresque, the historical romance, the sea yarn, the slave narrative, and philosophical allegory. Now with a new introduction from renowned writer and critic Stanley Crouch, this twenty-fifth anniversary edition of Middle Passage celebrates a cornerstone of the American canon and the masterwork of one of its most important writers. Long after we'd stopped believing in the great American novel, along comes a spellbinding adventure story that may be just that. Chicago Tribune The Eye of the Storm Patrick White, 1995. In death as in life, Elizabeth Hunter remains a callous, destructive vivisectioner of the lives around her, as her son and daughter convene at her deathbed in a Sydney suburb, and her housekeeper, nurses, and solicitor dance attendance. The Vintage Book of Contemporary Irish Fiction Dermot Bolger, 1995-11-14. Collects forty-six contemporary Irish short stories featuring contributions by notables including Mary Leland, William Trevor, Mary Dorcey, Patrick McCabe, and Brian Moore. Running Upon The Wires Kae Tempest, 2018-09-11. Running Upon The Wires is Kae Tempest's first book of free-standing poetry since the acclaimed Hold Your Own. In a beautifully varied series of formal poems, spoken songs, fragments, vignettes, and ballads, Tempest charts the heartbreak at the end of one relationship and the joy at the beginning of a new love, but also tells us what happens in between when the heart is pulled both ways at once. Running Upon The Wires is, in a sense, a departure from their previous work, and unashamedly personal and intimate in its address, but will also confirm Tempest's role as one of our most important poetic truth tellers; it will be no surprise to readers to discover that she's no less a direct and unflinching observer of matters of the heart than they are of social and political change. Running Upon The Wires is a heartbreaking, moving, and joyous book about love in its endings and in its beginnings. Recovering Memory Hedda Friberg, Irene Gilsenan Nordin, Lene Yding Pedersen, 2009-03-26. Various ways of collecting, storing, and recovering memories have been the focus of the most recent joint research project carried out by a group of Irish Studies scholars, all based in the Nordic countries, and members of the Nordic Irish Studies Network (NISN). The result of the project, Recovering Memory: Irish Representations of Past and Present, is a collection of essays which examines the theme of memory in Irish literature and culture against the theoretical background of the philosophical discourse of modernity Offering a wide range of perspectives this volume examines a plurality of representations past and present of memory both public and private and the intersection between collective memory and individual in modern Ireland Also explored is the relation between memory and identity national and private as well as questions of subjectivity and the construction of the self Given Ireland's tragic past and its long history of colonisation it is inevitable that various aspects of memory in terms of nationality post colonialism and politics also have bearing on this study The volume is divided into five sections each of which examines one broadly defined aspect of memory The introductory section focuses on memory and history and is followed by sections on memory and autobiography place identity and memory in the work of novelist John Banville Within each section the individual writers engage in a fruitful dialogue with each other and with the approaches of such theorists as Arendt Husserl Merleau Ponty Ricoeur and Baudrillard

Everyday Violence in the Irish Civil War Gemma Clark, 2014-04-21 Everyday Violence in the Irish Civil War presents an innovative study of violence perpetrated by and against non combatants during the Irish Civil War 1922-3 Drawing from victim accounts of wartime injury as recorded in compensation claims Dr Gemma Clark sheds new light on hundreds of previously neglected episodes of violence and intimidation ranging from arson boycott and animal maiming to assault murder and sexual violence that transpired amongst soldiers civilians and revolutionaries throughout the period of conflict The author shows us how these micro level acts particularly in the counties of Limerick Tipperary and Waterford served as an attempt to persecute and purge religious and political minorities and to force redistribution of land Clark also assesses the international significance of the war comparing the cruel yet arguably restrained violence that occurred in Ireland with the brutality unleashed in other European conflict zones

25 years Meticulously researched it presents detailed interpretations of novels by some of Ireland's most eminent writers This is the first text focused critical survey of the Irish novel from 1987 to 2007 providing detailed readings of 11 seminal Irish novels A timely and much needed text in a largely uncharted critical field Provides detailed interpretations of individual novels by some of the country's most critically celebrated writers including Sebastian Barry Roddy Doyle Anne Enright Patrick McCabe John McGahern Edna O'Brien and Colm Tóibín Investigates the ways in which Irish novels have sought to deal with and reflect a changing Ireland The fruit of many years reading teaching and research on the subject by a leading and highly respected academic in the field Sea Narratives: Cultural Responses to the Sea, 1600–Present Charlotte Mathieson, 2016-06-07 Sea Narratives Cultural Responses to the Sea 1600 Present explores the relationship between the sea and culture from the early modern period to the present The collection uses the concept of the sea narrative as a lens through which to consider the multiple ways in which the sea has shaped challenged and expanded modes of cultural representation to produce varied contested and provocative chronicles of the sea across a variety of cultural forms within diverse socio cultural moments Sea Narratives provides a unique perspective on the relationship between the sea and cultural production it reveals the sea to be more than simply a source of creative inspiration instead showing how the sea has had a demonstrable effect on new modes and forms of narration across the cultural sphere and in turn how these forms have been essential in shaping socio cultural understandings of the sea The result is an incisive exploration of the sea's force as a cultural presence Bad Blood Colm Tóibín, 2001 Tóibín writes prose of a heart breaking beauty Daily Telegraph In the summer after the Anglo Irish Agreement when tension was high in Northern Ireland Colm Tóibín walked along the border from Derry to Newry Bad Blood is a stark and evocative account of this journey through fear and hatred and a report on ordinary life and the legacy of history in a bleak and desolate landscape Tóibín describes the rituals the marches the funerals the demonstrations observed by both communities along the border and listens to the stories which haunt both sides With sympathy and insight Bad Blood captures the intimacy of life along one of the most contested strips of land in Western Europe Tóibín has the narrative poise of Brian Moore and the patient eye for domestic detail of John McGahern but he is very much his own man Observer High class reportage Tóibín was conscientious about talking to real people not just names with a good line in TV chat and went to see and hear and sense things at a local grassroots level Irish Times Global Perspectives on Probing Narratives in Healthcare Casal, Teresa, Cabral, Maria de Jesus, 2023-06-01 There is often a communication disconnect between medical caregivers including doctors nurses therapists and other assistive medical personnel and the patient While medical staff usually understand a patient's symptoms causes and treatments communicating this understanding to a patient using industry terminologies can lead to confusion and misunderstanding and similarly patients may lack the vocabulary to effectively communicate their experiences back to their caregivers A new approach to communication must be bridged between these groups by individuals who have experience on both sides of the conversation

Previous studies of doctors who end up in the role of the patient reveal how these individuals have a dual perspective on illness combining their medical knowledge with their own personal medical experiences. Narratives including autobiographical accounts and fictional stories can help bridge the gap between experiential and academic knowledge of illness by expanding one's limited perspective and accessing others' points of view. Autobiographical and fictional narratives can both play a role in developing a more comprehensive understanding of illness beyond simply treating the disease. It is necessary to further examine the ethical and methodological underpinnings of narrative-based interventions in the education of healthcare professionals, practitioners, and patients. Global Perspectives on Probing Narratives in Healthcare offers a multidisciplinary examination of theoretical and methodological uses of narratives in healthcare by bringing together medical aspects of healthcare and the study of arts and humanities. This illustrates specific applications of narratives in healthcare settings including improvement of clinical skills, performance of the caring role, and self-efficacy for building a true partnership in the patient's health journey through varied approaches. Up-to-date tools and resources that can be transferred and adapted to specific educational and healthcare contexts. This diverse collection of expert knowledge and experience is led by editors with over 20 years of teaching experience: Dr. Teresa Casal of the University of Lisbon, Portugal, and Dr. Maria de Jesus Cabral of the University of Minho, Portugal. Expertise featured in this book includes contributions from some of the most prestigious academic institutions including Columbia University in the United States, King's College in the United Kingdom, University of Padua in Italy, and more. It is an essential resource for healthcare and social science researchers, academics, advanced healthcare students, health training and education departments, healthcare practitioners, and patients' associations and policymakers in healthcare who are looking to broaden their scope of understanding of the patient experience.

The Cambridge History of World Literature Debjani Ganguly, 2021-09-09. World Literature is a vital part of twentieth-first century critical and comparative literary studies. As a field that engages seriously with the function of literary studies in our global era, the study of World Literature requires new approaches. The Cambridge History of World Literature is founded on the assumption that World Literature is not all literatures of the world nor a canonical set of globally successful literary works. It highlights scholarship on literary works that focus on the logics of circulation drawn from multiple literary cultures and technologies of the textual. While not rejecting the nation as a site of analysis, these volumes will offer insights into new cartographies: the hemispheric, the oceanic, the transregional, the archipelagic, the multilingual, local, that better reflect the multi-scalar and spatially dispersed nature of literary production. It will interrogate existing historical methodological and cartographic boundaries and showcase humanistic and literary endeavors in the face of world-scale environmental and humanitarian catastrophes.

Journalist Jon Ronson, the mild-mannered but ironic observer, learns some alarming things about the looking-glass world of them and us. Are the extremists onto something?
