A History of the English-Speaking Peoples since 1900 Andrew Roberts, 2010-12-16 Prize winning British historian tells the story of the English speaking peoples in the 20th century

Winston Churchill's History of the English Speaking Peoples ended in 1900. Andrew Roberts' Wolfson History prizewinner has been inspired by Churchill's example to write the story of the 20th century. Churchill wrote: Every nation or group of nations has its own tale to tell. Knowledge of the trials and struggles is necessary to all who would comprehend the problems, perils, challenges and opportunities which confront us today. It is in the hope that contemplation of the trials and tribulations of our forefathers may not only fortify the English speaking peoples of today but also play some small part in uniting the whole world that I present this account. As the greatest of all the trials and tribulations of the English speaking peoples took place in the twentieth century, Roberts' book covers the four world historical struggles in which the English speaking peoples have been engaged: the wars against German Nationalism, Axis Fascism, Soviet Communism, and now the War against Terror. But just as Churchill did in his four volumes, Roberts also deals with the cultural, social and political history of the English global diaspora.

A Social History of English Mr Dick Leith, Dick Leith, 2005-08-18. Written in a non-technical way, it takes into account standardization, pidginization, bi- and multilingualism, the issues of language maintenance and language loyalty, and linguistic variation. This new edition has been fully revised. Additions include new material about New Englishes across the world, a new chapter entitled A Critical Linguistic History of English Texts, a discussion of problems involved in writing a history of English. All terms and concepts are explained as they are introduced, and linguistic examples are chosen for their accessibility and intelligibility to the general reader. It will be of interest to students of Sociolinguistics, English Language History, and Cultural Studies.
