Martin Haefele, Manager Environmental Impact Assessment at Mackenzie Valley Environmental Impact Review Board, Yellowknife, Northwest Territories, Canada. This book gives a very broad overview of where Social Impact Assessment is coming from, where it is now, and where it could go, from an impact assessment tool to an impact management tool. It provides a realistic insight into both the achievements and the struggles of Social Impact Assessment. A recommended read for both those interested in Social Impact Assessment and those in related domains where social issues are gaining increasing importance, such as Environmental Assessment and Sustainability Appraisal. Rob Verheem, Deputy Director, Netherlands Commission for Environmental Assessment. This important new book outlines current developments in thinking in the field of Social Impact Assessment (SIA). It advances the theory and practice of SIA and argues that a dramatic shift is required in the way socioeconomic studies and community participation is undertaken. The book emphasizes that much more than the act of predicting impacts in a regulatory context, SIA needs to be the process of managing the social aspects of development and that there needs to be a holistic and integrated approach to impact assessment. It stresses that greater attention needs to be given to ensuring that the goals of development are attained and enhanced. This significant addition to the literature will be an invaluable reference for academics, consultants, and practitioners.

This pioneering Handbook provides a comparative and comprehensive account of this tool, situating it in the relevant theoretical traditions and scrutinizing its use across countries, policy sectors, and policy instruments. Comprising six parts, university researchers, international consultants, and practitioners working in international organizations examine regulatory impact assessment from many perspectives, which include research traditions in the social sciences, implementation, regulatory indicators and effects, tools and dimensions, such as courts and gender, sectoral case studies, including environment, enterprise, and international development, international diffusion in the European Union (EU), Americas, Asia, and developing countries, appraisal, training, and education.
